

Scranton Strong, Nixon Declares

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon told a news conference here Thursday that Gov. Scranton is without question one of the strongest potential candidates for the Republican presidential nomination.

"He has great support in the press, fine support among organization leaders," said Nixon. "If he should become a candidate he would be a very strong contender. But I don't want to come to his state and urge him to make a decision he himself will make in his own good time."

ICC Okays Postal Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department won Interstate Commerce Commission approval Thursday for a substantial increase in parcel post mailing rates.

The increase averages 13.1 percent above the present rates, which have been in effect four years. It also would apply to catalog mailings.

It is now up to the Post Office Department—faced with rising parcel post deficits—to decide when the rates shall take effect.

Tragedy Begets More Tragedy

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Mrs. Philip R. Sims Jr. was stricken by polio in 1951 at Omaha, Neb., and after that did her traveling either in a wheelchair or in her husband's arms—but she kept on traveling with him anyway.

"Sure it was tragic," Sims, a trucking company executive, said Thursday. "But we never looked at it that way. She was my brain. She took care of me. She did my thinking."

On Jan. 7, Sims was transferred to Milwaukee, and of course brought his wife with him, to temporary quarters at a motor hotel. Last Saturday night, they were going apartment hunting.

As he was carrying his 43-year-old wife from the hotel to a car, Sims slipped and fell. Mrs. Sims died at a hospital Wednesday of head injuries.

Cow Goes Up In The World

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky. (AP)—How now, brown cow? Fine, thank you, since she moved into a second-floor apartment.

Bossy was a cool cow with cold feet until she decided to move into an empty house on the Carlton Hammond farm.

Her owner, Marvin Carlton of Lawrenceburg, can't get her out. She won't be cowed. And carrying her down a flight of stairs is out of the question.

So he may just draw up eviction papers and have his brother, Deputy Sheriff J. W. Carlton, serve them on bossy.

NY Times Halts Western Edition

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times announced Thursday that it is discontinuing its West Coast edition Jan. 24, thus ending a unique experiment in national journalism.

Arthur Hays Sulzberger, board chairman of the Times, said high costs and a lack of income led to the decision to close the edition. The West Coast edition, published in Los Angeles with editorial material supplied from New York, had a circulation of slightly over $5,000 in 13 Western states.

Sulzberger said the decision to drop the West Coast edition in no way affected the Times' international edition, which is published in Paris and distributed throughout Europe, North Africa and the Middle East.

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market went through another irregular session Thursday with heavy trading. Some gains and losses were wide.

The cigar makers were spurred by a prominently published article pointing out that cigars were being bought avidly since the government health report gave cigars almost a clean bill of health compared with cigarettes.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended the day with a gain of 1.42 at 776.3.

Volume was 6.21 million compared with 6.75 million shares Wednesday.

Zanzibar's President Arrests Yanks At Gunpoint

ZANZIBAR (AP)—Guards marched a U.S. diplomat away at gunpoint Thursday and four American correspondents were placed under house arrest. President Abeid Karume shouted angrily he had broken off any remaining relations with the United States.

(After U.S. Consul Frederick P. Picard III was led away with a gun in his back, the State Department in Washington reported that Donald K. Petterson, a third secretary in the U.S. Embassy, was also arrested. It said the two diplomats were believed under house arrest.)

No Recognition

The incident in the Zanzibar Hotel came after Karume violently denounced the U. S. attitude to the new republic of Zanzibar. The United States has not recognized the new regime which overthrew the sultan of Zanzibar last Sunday.

Picard, 36, is a native of York, Neb., and Petterson, 33, a native of San Luis Obispo, Calif. They are the last two remaining U.S. diplomats in Zanzibar.

Placed under arrest in their hotel rooms were John Nugent of Newsweek, William Smith of Time Magazine, Robert Conley of the New York Times and Peter Rand of the New York Herald Tribune. They had reached Zanzibar from Bagamoyo, Tan ganyika.

Released

(In New York, Time Magazine and the New York Times said they had reports that Smith and Conley had been released.) Karume, who had just returned from Dar Es Salaam where he had pleaded for assistance from the Tanganyikan government, was livid with rage when he stormed into the Zanzibar Hotel.

While in Dar Es Salaam, the rebel leader had apparently read dispatches filed by the correspondents to their publications and he was visibly angry at their arrival here.

The four newsmen arrived in Zanzibar by dhow, an Indian Ocean sailboat.

Most of the foreign newsmen who have reached Zanzibar since the weekend revolt have managed to get ashore from dhows. Some even swam ashore.

The journalists have set up an unofficial press headquarters in the Zanzibar Hotel.

When Karume got back from Dar es Salaam he stormed into the hotel and singled out the four American journalists with allegations of illegal entry into Zanzibar.

The four were also accused of sending distorted cables overseas.

Earlier Thursday, self-styled Field Marshal John Okello said he is the strong man of Zanzibar's revolution and it was he who appointed Karume as president.

Rebel Leader

The 27-year-old rebel leader ordered the four American journalists to be held under arrest in their hotel rooms and placed a 24-hour guard over them, "particularly Nugent."

When Picard arrived to try to defend the journalists, Karume turned on him shouting: "Why do you not recognize us?"

Karume, hammering a fist into the palm of his hand, yelled at Picard: "You have interfered with our government."

Picard, who had tried to determine the status of Americans on the island—believed to be only himself, Petterson and the journalists—was told all would be detained under house arrest.

Karume also shouted that the new government of Zanzibar had broken off whatever relations remained with the United States and that he would let Picard know within 12 hours what would be the next move.

Hoffa Wins First National Contract

CHICAGO (AP)—The International Brotherhood of Teamsters climaxed a 30-year campaign Thursday with an agreement on the first nationwide contract, involving more than 400,000 drivers and helpers.

Teamsters' President James R. Hoffa hailed the pact, which he estimated would cost the nation's truckers an additional $300 million a year in wage costs, as a forerunner for national contracts in other industries.

The stocky labor leader told a news conference he has always believed there should be a nationwide contract to promote the best interests of the Teamsters.

He predicted the agreement would set the pattern for national contracts in many industries which do not now have them.

"This agreement is the most complicated contract ever worked out between a union and employers," Hoffa said. "It involves some 450,000 drivers and helpers and about 14,000 employers. These employers have varying operations and their union employees range from 2 to 23,000."

Although Hoffa estimated the agreement would cost the truckers an additional $300 million annually in labor costs, the American Trucking Association in Washington, representing the employers, said no estimate could be made until full details of the agreement are analyzed.

Gov. George W. Romney of Michigan termed the national agreement a potential danger to the nation. In Lansing, Mich., Romney said the contract is "simply a further step in the concentration of power in the transportation industry."

Chiari Pressured To Remain Tough

PANAMA (AP)—A domestic political dispute shaped up Thursday over Panama's demand for a new Canal Zone treaty and the U.S. government's stand for discussion, not negotiation, of issues affecting the relationship of the two nations.

At the same time, high sources in American and Panamanian official quarters said there was a glimmer of hope for a formula that might reopen the door.

Chairman Manuel Trucco of the joint subcommittee operating under auspices of the peace commission of the Organization of American States conferred with President Roberto Chiari, Foreign Minister Galileo Solis of Panama took part in the conference.

There was no word as to Trucco's specific mission or the outcome.

Press President

Chiari was under heavy pressure from civic, professional and business organizations to insist on negotiation of a new treaty that would give Panama eventual ownership of the strategic waterway.

On the other hand, some influential, conservative Panamanians called on Chiari to restore relations now and bring up the matter of the canal later. This group appeared to be a distinct minority in the tumult about the 1903 pact that gave the United States perpetual rights over the Canal Zone.

Both Sides Agree

Castro Agitators On Job In Panama

PANAMA (AP)—General agreement exists among Panamanian and U.S. officials that pro-Castro Communists had a hand in the rioting and disorders in the Panama Canal Zone. But opinions differ on just how big a part they played.

What it boils down to is this: Many believe that the pro-Castro Reds probably had no direct hand in setting off the riots but exploited the situation.

Once the violence started, the Communists jumped in, said Fabian Velarde, press secretary for President Roberto Chiari.

The violence erupted after a group of Panamanian students crossed into the Canal Zone a week ago to protest the action of U.S. students at the Balboa High School in displaying the U.S. flag in defiance of orders from Canal Zone officials.

The Panamanians carried a flag of their country. The banner was trampled and torn in scuffling between the students and Canal Zone police. When word spread in Panama the rioting flared.

Velarde said that pro-Castro Communists trained in Cuba infiltrated the ranks of the rioters.

The infiltrators were very effective in goading on the rioters, he said.

He stressed that most Panamanians are not for Fidel Castro. The Communist party has been outlawed in Panama for a decade.

U.S. Secretary of the Army Cyrus Vance said in Washington upon his return Tuesday from Panama that Castro Communist agents were responsible for increasing measurably the amount of violence.

Maj. Angel Arauz, head of the presidential guard, said he had no information on a statement by Vance that 10 suspected Castro agents had been arrested after the rioting. Chiari's office denied the report.

In Washington, the Pentagon said Vance stands on his statement.

Chiari has said there was evidence of Castro agents at work among the rioters. Secretary of State Dean Rusk made a similar statement.

Opposition Needs

This statement, issued by a seven-party opposition alliance backing the presidential candidacy of Juan de Arco Galindo, called for an agreement from the United States that the treaty will be negotiated.

"Otherwise," it said, "the heroic gesture of Jan. 9 (the ouster of rioting in which 19 Panamanians and four U.S. soldiers were killed) will be betrayed."

Chiari is ineligible to run for re-election. His Liberal party is lacking Marco Robles in a seven-nation race for the presidency.

RFK Eager To Meet Sukarno

TOKYO (AP)—Expressing U.S. concern over the Malaysian crisis, Robert F. Kennedy headed into a round of talks including a vital meeting with President Sukarno of Indonesia.

Kennedy made a point on his arrival Thursday of stressing a "bond of friendship with Indonesia," arch opponent of the Malaysian federation of Malaysia, Singapore, Sarawak and Sabah.

In a brief arrival statement, Kennedy said he was looking forward to his meeting with Sukarno and wanted to discuss with him "the concern that the United States and other nations of the world have of the situation that now exists in the relationship between Malaysia and Indonesia."

"This is a matter that must be decided and determined and resolved by Asian countries, not by outsiders," he added.

On a special mission for President Johnson, Kennedy went right to work. He conferred until almost midnight with Howard P. Jones, U.S. ambassador to Indonesia; Edwin O. Reischauer, U.S. ambassador to Japan; and other American officials.

Gov. Scranton Backs Strong Foreign Policy

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Scranton says any candidate for the presidency should stand for a very strong foreign policy that would include "brinkmanship."

The governor was asked at his weekly news conference Thursday what he felt a candidate for the presidency should stand for in foreign affairs.

"Briefly, I think we should stand for a very strong foreign policy," the governor asserted, adding: "People talk a great deal about the horrors of brinkmanship. I don't quite know what they mean, because whenever we get into a crisis with the Soviet bloc—or for that matter with anybody—it seems to me you must take a strong position in order to have any effectiveness with the Communist group or the Soviet Union. This has been proved many times."

Scranton, frequently cited as a prospect for the Republican nomination for president, restated his position that he is not a candidate for the nomination, but would accept a sincere and honest draft.

Brinkmanship is a term commonly applied to unyielding foreign policy in some areas. The word was coined after former secretary of state John Foster Dulles said American policy included going to the brink of war.

Glenn Clips Wings; Looks To Politics

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—John H. Glenn Jr., the first American to orbit the world gave up his astronaut wings and a possible trip to the moon Thursday as apparent steps toward formal entry into politics in his native Ohio.

Robert R. Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, accepted Glenn's resignation from the space program but gave no indication of the plans of the 42-year-old Marine Corps lieutenant colonel.

The resignation did not include the Marine Corps commission Glenn has held 20 years. Glenn would not comment on the resignation but told The Associated Press he was flying to Columbus, Ohio, on Thursday night. It was announced earlier in Columbus he has reserved a hotel ballroom there for a 10 a.m. Eastern Standard Time news conference Friday.

Unidentified political leaders in Ohio have reported Glenn will seek nomination to the post now held by U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young, 74, a Democrat who is seeking re-election.

Ohio Democrats are to hold a nonbinding nominating convention Monday.

Glenn frequently has side stepped questions about political ambitions but indicated last Saturday any decision to enter politics would be announced in Columbus.

A spokesman at the training base for astronauts said Glenn's next logical step would be to resign or retire from the Marine Corps "if he enters politics or whatever."

Glenn, at the age of 40, thrilled the nation and the world with his three-orbit mission in his Friendship 7 spacecraft Feb. 20, 1962.

Home, Erhard Plan

Berlin Unity Sought By Bit-By-Bit Settlement

LONDON (AP) Sir Alec Douglas-Home and Ludwig Erhard resolved Thursday to work for bit-by-bit settlements with the Soviet Union leading to a Berlin settlement and reunion of divided Germany. But they stressed this must be based on the right of all Germans to self-determination.

The British prime minister and West German chancellor ended a two-day meeting clearly satisfied they had dispelled many of the shadows of mistrust that had darkened British-German relations during Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's era.

Cordial Talks

"The talks were held in a most cordial atmosphere," said a communique.

Erhard commented to newsmen: "That visit has been a success."

The rotund chancellor reported also that Allied experts in Washington already are working on new proposals looking toward German reunion.

Elaborating on this remark, other informed diplomats said: "An American, British, French and West German ambassadorial group in Washington is studying ways of reviving and updating a far-reaching Western plan for insuring the peace of troubled Europe."

Peace Plan

Once called the "Western peace plan," it would set up a security system from the Urals to the Atlantic. As originally conceived the scheme outlined a program for reunifying Germany.

It offered guarantees for any state which might become the innocent victim of aggression. This was intended to allay the fears of those countries which in the past have been attacked by a rampant Germany.

The Soviets rejected the whole thing in 1953, but a modernized version, taking account of some Soviet objections, might possibly be considered worthwhile by the West.

Sir Alec and Erhard had entered the talks already convinced—as are President Johnson and other Allied leaders—that the West must continue to probe Moscow's readiness for meaningful agreements.

Glenn's flight lasted 4 hours, 55 minutes and 23 seconds and Friendship 7 splashed into the Atlantic just 40 miles uprange from target. Minutes earlier people everywhere had shared his anxiety when he reported difficulty with the spacecraft's automatic controls. He overcame the problem by taking manual control during re-entry.

Cigarettes 'Hot' Researchers Find

BOSTON (AP)—Two Harvard researchers said Thursday they have found a radioactive element in cigarette smoke which may be a cause of lung cancer.

Drs. Edward P. Radford and Vilma R. Hunt of the Harvard School of Public Health, described their report as the first to suggest that radioisotopes in tobacco are involved in the production of lung cancer.

While it has been shown that ionizing radiation can produce cancer in man, Radford said, "We cannot say at this time that we have proven that radioactivity is a cause of lung cancer."

Radford and Mrs. Hunt said they found traces of the element polonium in tobacco. They determined that polonium attaches itself to smoke particles and is carried into the bronchial tubes and lungs.

Polonium may constitute a significant initiator of neoplasia abnormal growth—in the bronchial epithelium, lining, of a cigarette smoker, their report said.

Radford told a news conference that he and Mrs. Hunt are continuing their research in an effort to determine "the role polonium may play as a cancer producer."

A conclusive test, Radford said, would be to remove polonium from cigarettes and see what affect, if any, it would have on the incidence of lung cancer among smokers.

Separating polonium from the smoke would be a nearly impossible task, Radford said.

Therefore, the only effective filter would be one that removed all the smoke, leaving the smoker to inhale warm air, he said.

Authority Asks $413,000 Loan

EAST STROUDSBURG—The Monroe County Redevelopment Authority is on the brink of big business and they have the figures to prove it.

The Authority was told yesterday that the S. Courtland St. project in East Stroudsburg will cost the State and Federal governments an estimated $416,934. Another $4,737 will be paid by East Stroudsburg taxpayers for widening Alley A.

The authority authorized application for a $413,000 loan to cover the estimated cost of the entire project. That sum and the additional $3,931 will be paid for by the federal government on a 100 per cent basis for moving expenses in relocating families.

Beers broke the price of the S. Courtland St. project into four categories.

He said $245,273 would be used for land acquisition, which includes a 10 per cent leeway for property prices; $16,550 for demolition; $111,451 for planning administration, which includes authority salaries for 18 months and interest on borrowed money; $43,519 for site improvement, planners fees not to exceed $13,000, office expenses and appraisal and re-use study fees.

He also said that amendments to the original industrial development plan for the Lincoln Ave. project are being drawn up. As soon as the authority has the plans a second public meeting on the project will be held.

Re-Sale Value

He said the difference—$84,350—will be made up by sale of the 100 acres of project land.

Schmidt said three-quarters of net cost will be paid by the federal government and the remaining one-quarter will be split by the state and East Stroudsburg. This amounts to $41,573 as East Stroudsburg's share for the S. Courtland St. project.

According to Schmidt, however, the borough built up money credits with the federal government when the flood project was built.

He said these credits would reduce East Stroudsburg's and the state's share of the project to $10,834. Schmidt said he felt the state would pay all these costs.

At a meeting in the authority's offices on Crystal St., in East Stroudsburg, all these costs were discussed and analyzed for authority members by King Beers, executive director, and William Schmidt, a professional planner.

Acquisition Costs

According to an acquisition appraisal, the cost of buying property in the S. Courtland area will cost an estimated $245,273. The appraisal was made by Walter Dreher, Stroudsburg realtor, for $700.

The 23 buildings that will be bought will be torn down to make room for a new Acme Market and U. S. Post Office, the only businesses that will build on the four-acre site.

Unskilled's Plight Blasted By Barry

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater zeroed in on unskilled workers in America, in a talk in the home state of another White House hopeful — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

The senator said, "We are told, however, that many people lack skills and cannot find jobs because they did not have an education."

"That's like saying that people have big feet because they wear big shoes."

"The fact is that most people who have no skill have no education for the same reason — low intelligence or low ambition," Sen. Goldwater said.

Goldwater took potshots at President Johnson's "war on poverty."

The Arizona businessman declared, "America for most of its years, has waged a war on poverty. I say when we work our way to wealth we win that war."

"I say that when the government tries to spend its way to wealth we lose that war," he declared.

Calling the president's state of the union message, "Santa Claus promises," Goldwater proposed that able-bodied men on relief be put to work to earn their welfare benefits.

"There are community projects aplenty that could be worked this way, getting jobs done which otherwise would not be done and getting them done without gaudy new federal programs," Goldwater said.

Dr. Webster Stover of Rye, N.Y., who hung tattered clothes on a line in defiance of a local ordinance, lost an eight-year legal battle and will begin a 19 day jail term.

The former president of Arnold College in New Haven, hung the clothes on his front line to protest what he felt unjust assessment of his home.

He paid a $25 fine. Then hung the clothes up again. When he was fined $100 for the second offense, he refused to pay thus beginning the legal fight that went all the way to the Supreme Court.

Before entering jail, he told reporters that he will sell his house when he is released and move to another community.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO is proving that the late President Kennedy was the friend of labor.

Meany announced this week that the unions will consider contributing $2 million toward the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

"John Kennedy was a true friend of the America worker," Meany said.

President Antonio Segni of Italy came to the United States for talks with President Johnson.

And what does he return to his homeland with? A marble head of a young Roman dating back to the first century A.D.

His gift to the U.S. president was a 18th century silver reproduction of an Italian sailing boat about two feet long.

Saul Silberman, owner of Tropical Park's track in Miami, Florida is known as the Santa Claus of racing fans.

On the eve of the park's closing this week, the track operator passed out $20 bills to 30 people who were waiting in line to buy pari-mutuel tickets at the betting windows.

Silberman said he decided to distribute the money gifts at random in appreciation for the public's fine support of the meeting which began Thanksgiving Day.

The 61 year - old attorney served in Harrisburg from 1934 to 1935.

Rupp was reportedly visiting in the Franklin area to look over property he owns near Oil City.

People In The Spotlight

Bob Hope got good news this week that his recent Christmas tour to the Mediterranean to entertain U.S. troops was the best therapy ever for his chronic eczema.

"My doctor took a look at me and said I can coast now — no more treatments for awhile," the well-known comedian said, "in fact the doctor is convinced that the best therapy for me is applause."

Hope went to San Francisco fully expecting to re-enter Children's Hospital where last month he underwent photo-coagulation treatment for the persistent eye hemorrhage.

Dr. Webster Stover of Rye, N.Y., who hung tattered clothes on a line in defiance of a local ordinance, lost an eight-year legal battle and will begin a 19 day jail term.

The former president of Arnold College in New Haven, hung the clothes on his front line to protest what he felt unjust assessment of his home.

He paid a $25 fine. Then hung the clothes up again. When he was fined $100 for the second offense, he refused to pay thus beginning the legal fight that went all the way to the Supreme Court.

Before entering jail, he told reporters that he will sell his house when he is released and move to another community.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO is proving that the late President Kennedy was the friend of labor.

Meany announced this week that the unions will consider contributing $2 million toward the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

"John Kennedy was a true friend of the America worker," Meany said.

President Antonio Segni of Italy came to the United States for talks with President Johnson.

And what does he return to his homeland with? A marble head of a young Roman dating back to the first century A.D.

His gift to the U.S. president was a 18th century silver reproduction of an Italian sailing boat about two feet long.

Saul Silberman, owner of Tropical Park's track in Miami, Florida is known as the Santa Claus of racing fans.

On the eve of the park's closing this week, the track operator passed out $20 bills to 30 people who were waiting in line to buy pari-mutuel tickets at the betting windows.

Silberman said he decided to distribute the money gifts at random in appreciation for the public's fine support of the meeting which began Thanksgiving Day.

Former State Sen. George A. Rupp of Allentown died Wednesday in a Franklin Hospital of an apparent heart attack.

The 61 year - old attorney served in Harrisburg from 1934 to 1935.

Rupp was reportedly visiting in the Franklin area to look over property he owns near Oil City.

STROUDSBURG — Munroe Husbands, continental fellowship director for the Unitarian Universalist Assn. of Boston, will give a public address on "Who Are These Unitarians and Universalists?" Monday at 8 p.m. in the Penn - Stroud Hotel, Stroudsburg.

Husbands said recently in defining his group, "Unitarians and Universalists comprise a fellowship of seekers, frankly asserting that they do not have 'the answers.'"

The coalition is pledged to support the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Planning Action

We congratulate new Monroe County Commissioner Stuart Pipher for urging that the dormant county planning commission be brought back to life and his commissioner colleagues, Stanley Rader and John Price, for agreeing that the commission should be put to work again.

Nine members of the Monroe County Planning Commission were appointed for various terms on Nov. 21, 1955, right after the disastrous flood which hit the Pocono Mountains and Stroudsburg. The last term expired Jan. 1, 1961.

But no new members were appointed; no old members were reappointed. But the commission itself still exists as a legal body. It just doesn't have any members.

The need for county planning is as serious now as it was after the 1955 flood. We are now being hit by a new flood of progress, of real estate development because of the fortunate meeting of interstate highways in Monroe County. We will soon be hit by another flood of progress as the Tocks Island Dam and possibly a National Recreation Area around it are constructed.

A county planning commission will not eliminate all the pains of progress and growth, but it can suggest and plug for ways to meet the challenge of rapid change and growth.

We hope the commissioners will select nine men competent in the required fields of professional training, representative of the various geographical areas of the county, vitally concerned about the future of this beautiful vacation and recreational area, and willing to spend the long hours of meeting, thinking, debating and planning that will be required.

We hope they will not be chosen because of political loyalty or personal friendship.

This is one of the most important projects the county commissioners face in their next four years in office. It is essential to the future health, beauty and prosperity of the Pocono Mountains and its residents.

We congratulate the commissioners for their interest in bringing the commission back to life, and hope appointment of new members can be done well and quickly.

A Beautiful Snowfall

The 17 inches of snow which fell on the Pocono Mountains this week caused a lot of trouble for motorists, school administrators, and highway snow removal crews.

But the snow is refreshing, beautiful and clean and it caused a lot of joy for school students who were given a day or two off to dig snow, or sled or ski on it.

A severe snowfall is a good thing for mankind in his modern civilization.

Weather reasserts herself as a power which can control man, rather than vice versa. It reminds us that there are, after all man's progress, powers in the universe greater than man.

It gets many housebound people outdoors and into cold, fresh air. It gives exercise to many who hardly ever get it . . . too much to some. And it gives long, sleepless hours of work to highway maintenance men frustrated by the high wind which blew snow back over roads as fast as they were plowed.

The snow forces many of us to walk, when we are accustomed to driving a car a few blocks to work or shop or visit.

It may be expensive to remove. It may cause traffic jams and a few accidents. But a heavy snow is good for us now and then. It gives us a few hours rest from our over-organized, over-mechanized, indoor civilization.

Comment Of The Day

"I do not believe that the mere fact of having little money entitles everybody, regardless of circumstance, to be permanently maintained by the taxpayers at an average or comfortable standard of living . . .

"We are told however that many people lack skills and cannot find jobs because they did not have an education.

That's like saying that people have big feet because they wear big shoes.

"The fact is that most people who have no skill have had no education for the same reason — low intelligence or low ambition."

—Senator Barry Goldwater in a speech to the Economic Club of New York.

NAACP Told State Ahead U. S. In Rights

STROUDSBURG — Members of the Monroe County Chapter, National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People were told last night that "Pennsylvania has been far ahead of the federal government in anti-discrimination laws."

Atty. Edwin Krawitz of Stroudsburg, urged local NAACP members to become acquainted with laws covering discrimination at a meeting in the Stroudsburg YMCA.

Krawitz spoke on the subject, "Human Rights—Under Existing State Laws." He defined a civil right—a phrase he said that appears in papers every day and few people comprehend—as all rights stemming from citizenship and residents in a certain state.

Krawitz warned that the laws of the land are slow and "are usually behind the social mores of the times."

A decision concerning how much money will be donated to the national chapter's Freedom Fund was tabled pending further finance committee study.

It was announced that the local chapter's executive committee will meet Feb. 6 at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Alice Patterson on Foxtown Hill, Delaware Water Gap.

'Linden Hall' Name Of Dorm

EAST STROUDSBURG — "Linden Hall" has officially become the name of the new girls dormitory recently completed at East Stroudsburg State College.

According to Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of ESSC, the Board of Trustees at their recent meeting honored the wishes of the girls presently living in the dormitory.

The girls held an election and the name "Linden Hall" emerged as the name approved by most of the residents. The girls then submitted the name to Dr. Koehler who in turn presented it to the Trustees.

Two Schools Closed, 2 Open

STROUDSBURG—All schools in the Pleasant Valley and Stroud Union School Districts will be closed today in order for their teachers to hold in-service training programs.

In-service programs scheduled for the Pocono Mountains and East Stroudsburg Joint School Districts have been cancelled and both districts will have school today.

In Korea, 19,000 members of 3,500 refugee families moved to new homesteads must clear the fields and build sea walls before they can even begin farming. To help sustain them until the land is productive, 45,800 of CARE's $1 Food Crusade packages are needed—enough to give each family a package a month for 12 months.

Vacation Bureau Seeks County Aid

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County commissioners yesterday took under consideration requests for funds from Pocono Mountain Vacation Bureau and Stroudsburg Council.

Eric Schuchard, president of Pocono Mountain Vacation Bureau, and John Calhoun, executive secretary of the bureau, presented a request to the commissioners for a county contribution. They did not specify the amount but based their request on House Bill 782.

The bill, dealing with appropriations to industrial development agencies and tourist promotion agencies, states "... The board of commissioners may appropriate annually such sum of money, but not in excess of ten cents for each resident of the county as determined by the last census ..."

The 1960 census of Monroe County is 39,567.

The maximum amount possible to appropriate to the tourist promotion agency in Monroe County — Pocono Mountain Vacation Bureau — is $3,956.70.

Chairman of the board Stanley Rader said, "We will consider your request and will let you know of our decision. We (the board) know the job you are doing and we look with favor at your request."

Representing Stroudsburg Council was Mayor Joseph Small and Council President Robert Weichel.

They asked for county aid from the liquid fuels fund totaling $10,000.

Rader told them that under the present method of distribution of liquid fuels money Stroudsburg would get $6,000 in 1964, with a possibility of an additional $1,000 later in the year.

Three deeds were filed yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeannette F. Batory, Monroe County register and recorder:

Bernard R. and Anna Mabel Peters of East Stroudsburg, et al. to David and Madeline M. Swank of East Stroudsburg, property in Smithfield Twp.; Elwood H. Shupp of Eldred Twp. to James L. Jr. and Shirley J. Smith of Eldred Twp., property in Eldred Twp., and John D. and Florence Phillips of Brooklyn, N.Y., to Frank and Alyce Heard of Pocono Twp., property in Pocono Twp.

The nomination is subject to approval by the U. S. Post Office Department.

Thaddeus C. Sharer, present Saylorsburg postmaster, has resigned. He was appointed postmaster Sept. 6, 1957.

Kleintop is a lifelong resident of the Saylorsburg area. He and his wife, Shirley, have three children.

He is a veteran who served three years in the U.S. Army during the World War II. He spent two years overseas in the China-Burma-India theater.

Two-Car Crash In Mt. Pocono

MT. POCONO — State Police from Mt. Pocono substation yesterday investigated a two-car crash at the intersection of Rt. 940 and Pocono Manor Rd.

John R. Zimmerman, 48, of Swiftwater, operator of one car, received abrasions to his nose and left shin. He was treated by his family physician.

Roy K. Kohr, 20, of Hummelstown RD 2, was the second operator. He was not injured.

State Police said Kohr pulled out of a private drive and into the path of Zimmerman.

Kohr will be charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Police estimate damage at $300 to the Kohr car and $100 to the Zimmerman vehicle.

Gap Chamber To Elect Aides

DELAWARE WATER GAP — The 1964 slate of officers will be elected by the Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce at a meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in Melick's Cherry Valley Inn.

Requested By Pipher

County Planning To Be Reactivated

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Commissioner Stuart Pipher yesterday requested reactivation of the Monroe County Planning Commission.

Pipher said, "The terms of all former members of the commission have expired and I move that new persons be named so the commission will function again."

Commissioner John Price seconded the motion.

Pipher named nine persons for consideration as the new members. They are Ralph Burrows, Herbert Haney, Gilbert Murray, Letcher Caruthers, Robert Pinder, Ralph Reppert, Mrs. Grace Palmer, John Montgomery and John Mills.

Price then added R. C. Cranmer to the list to be considered. Commissioner Stanley Rader recommended that persons from the county banking industry, Chamber of Commerce, Pocono Mountain Industries, Inc., and an attorney also be considered as persons to be appointed to the commission.

Russell Mervine, Monroe County Commissioner's solicitor, told the meeting that persons named to the commission must, by law, be familiar with financing, industry, agriculture, real estate, engineering, social welfare and law.

The board took no action but will continue to make a study of the commission and persons to be considered. They will make appointments at a later date.

Rader said, "Once we get this commission underway and in action it will take a great deal of the load off our shoulders."

Pipher added, "One thing I do believe is that whoever we decide on to serve on this commission should be people who are interested in planning and zoning." Rader and Price agreed.

Other Business

In other business the commissioner:

Approved the purchase of a table and four chairs for the jail. The furniture will be purchased from Star Furniture in East Stroudsburg for $143.95. The county was given a $16 discount.

Purchased a filing cabinet from Steinhauer's in Stroudsburg. The purchase price is $60. The file will be used in the jail.

3rd Street Playground Needs $2,000

STROUDSBURG — Atty. Russell Mervine, a member of Monroe County Park Commission, yesterday told Monroe County commissioners the park commission would make a formal request to the county for $2,000 in the very near future.

The money is to be used for playground property at N. Third St., Stroudsburg, he said. He said $1,500 of the $2,000 will go toward the purchase of a fence and equipment for the playground. The fence is estimated at $300 and cost to erect it $300.

Herbert Altomose, chairman of the commission, suggested that the commission should delay on hiring supervision of the playground.

He suggested that civic minded persons in the area, PTA, Stroudsburg Council, and area police be contacted for volunteer help.

The commissioners took no action on the suggestion and will await another report from the park commission.

Everglades Hit By Cold Weather

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Frigid weather, which seemed almost to probe for a weak spot, found it early Wednesday and delivered a damaging blow to the nation's winter vegetable garden — the famed Everglades of South Florida.

Temperatures in the citrus belt that girdles the Florida Peninsula's bulging middle bobbed up and down, causing some fright but little damage.

A "conversation corner" with a massive brick fireplace and cozy furniture arrangement adds an extra measure of warmth to this sturdy and comfortable two-story colonial home.

The area is tucked away in a corner of the family room, or informal living room, and emphasizes the rustic charm of the room which has applied beams on its ceiling and wood paneling on the walls.

At this time of year, when wintry winds howl, there's little doubt where would be the favorite spot in the house for family relaxing.

But the room has summer-time attraction too. Sliding glass doors lead to a breezy rear terrace, and large windows overlooking the backyard assure plenty of natural light and air when wanted.

The house contains four bedrooms upstairs, each large enough for twin beds, plus a fifth room on the main level which can serve as a maid's room or guest room or can even be pressed into family services as an extra bedroom if necessary. The spare room also is ideal for an elderly relative, since there's no need to climb stairs to reach it.

The house was designed by architect Herman H. York as H-11 in the House of the Week series. It contains 1,549 square feet of living area on the first floor and 1,161 square feet upstairs. The attached garage adds 506 square feet. Overall dimensions are 69 feet wide by 40 feet five inches deep.

The exterior is typically New England, with a covered porch, double front door, shuttered windows with window boxes, and a quaint cupola atop the garage.

Architect York suggests red brick and natural cedar shingles with the woodwork all in white. "You could use another color on the front door for accent," York says, "but take care it doesn't clash with the brick. Actually an accent color would be unnecessary in this scheme; a plain white door would be hard to improve on." If the side-wall shingles are natural, the architect says, the roof shingles should be either white or black.

Additional Details
Architect York, a leading designer of residential housing, has combined the best from former years with a layout clearly in tune with modern living needs.

The huge entry foyer with its attractive plant area and large coat closet is in effect a glamorous reception room.

The formal living room also is spacious and has plenty of wall area for imaginative furniture arrangements. A large bay window is both an interior and exterior feature. And note that the living room is dead-end — that is, no traffic ever has to pass through.

The housekeeping area is a well ordered ensemble of large kitchen, large dinette (which also has an attractive bow window) and handy utility room with an adjoining full bathroom.

Added features in this area include a main level laundry large enough to do the family ironing, a mud closet at the rear door for overshoes and umbrellas and the like, a pantry, broom closet, built-in coun-

Consult Your Plumber For Water Pipe Size

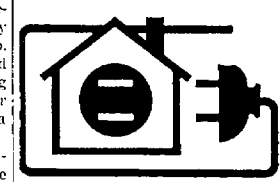

Plenty of water is necessary for growing lawns and gardens. But an adequate water supply is necessary for a growing home as well.

It's true, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, that when you think in terms of adding an extra bath, family room, etc., a house can be an organic place that will grow when properly planned.

Too often, prospective homeowners settle for water supply piping that barely does the job. Then, when they want to add a bathroom or new water using appliances, they find the water supply won't handle the extra load.
The possibility of a stepped-up demand for water should be taken into consideration when planning the piping for a new home, the Bureau advises.
The difference in cost between barely adequate piping and that which will handle all future needs is only a few cents a month.

Obeys the signals, stay in line. The life you save, may be mine.

Teeners Advised How To Help Themselves Stay Out Of Trouble

By Ann Landers

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of ten articles condensed from the new book "Ann Landers Talks To Teen-Agers About Sex." Copyright (c) 1963 by Prentice-Hall, Inc. In this series America's pre-eminent human relations columnist offers warm and wise counsel to teen-agers and their parents.)

The word "teen" comes from the Old English word "teona" which means grief, misery and pain. This bit of background may be comforting. It should help to know that teen-age years always have been rough.

I was under the impression that life for teen-agers was a breeze — until the time had come for me to be a teen-ager. Then the sky fell in.

The year was 1931. The country was paralyzed by a devastating depression. I had persuaded myself that my teen-age difficulties were in some way linked with the financial condition of the country. It wasn't until later that I learned prosperity didn't make teen-age life any happier.

The process of growing up is painful because growing means changing, and changing means pain. It helps if we can place the blame for our failures and inadequacies on something or someone outside ourselves.

I had the depression to blame. Fifteen years later teen-agers had World War II. Today, it's the H-bomb.

Beyond Control
Some troubles are beyond man's ability to control. Among the most obvious are birth deformities, serious illness, the loss of loved ones, flood, fire and just being hit by a falling brick. Call it tough luck if you wish (heaven knows some of us have more tough luck than others) but all of us, if we hang around this planet long enough, are destined to get some cuts and bruises.

If we are honest we will admit that we bring certain agonies right down on our foolish heads. The secret of contentment include the capacity to accept with grace the bumps we cannot duck and to avoid the bumps which are avoidable, and the wisdom to distinguish between the two.

Man was not meant to be a sitting duck, vulnerable to any and every kind of misfortune. God gave man the gift of will and the power of reason and the mental equipment with which to make choices.

But no matter how efficient the mental machinery may be, no one makes precisely the right decision every time. Even the smartest ones goof. Most teen-age type troubles don't "just happen." We ask for them.

Don't Overmatch
If you want the point spelled out in a neat little package, here it is: Don't overmatch yourself. When you plop your self right square in the middle of a tempting situation, you are begging for trouble.

Unchaperoned, moonlight beach parties, for example, are loaded with dynamite. So are unchaperoned picnics, ski parties, hunting and fishing excursions — anything that brings two people close to nature and takes them a million miles from the eyes of civilization and stills the voice of reason.

No self-respecting (or smart) girl accepts an invitation to her boy friend's house when she knows his parents are out of town. Nor does she invite him to her home under similar circumstances.

And if your parents have not set a curfew for you, then set one for yourself. The girl who can stay out as late as she pleases invariably stays out too late. Fellows sometimes gripe about "strict" rules and regulations, but in truth, a first-rate boy has little respect for a date who can be picked up at the corner drug store and dropped off at a girl friend's home at any old hour.

Chaperone Needed
As for unchaperoned parties. I am against them. A couple of adults, or at least one parent, should be somewhere under the roof when a teen-age party is in session. I don't mean Mom and Dad should park themselves in the center of the activities and police the action, but at least one adult should be on the premises, and the kids should know it.

Teenagers who have no specific plans and cruise around aimlessly often wind up parking beside the road "to talk." And parking can lead to serious trouble.

Remember — double-dating statistically reduces the chances of becoming intimate. That couple in the front seat or back seat can be damned good insurance against going too far.

Some high schools have a rule which prohibits freshmen and sophomores from single dating. Exactly how such a rule can be enforced I cannot say, but it's a sound idea and I heartily endorse it.

Up to now we have discussed staying out of trouble from the negative point of view. We have emphasized what not to do. Now let's see what positive steps can be taken.

Know Yourself

First, accept your sexuality. Don't try to deny it, and don't be ashamed of it. It's good. At the same time you must understand that sexual drives create physical tensions. These tensions build up and become more insistent in their demands for expression.

Damning up tension produces anxiety, frustration and even physical discomfort. If you direct this energy into wholesome, constructive channels, you will burn it up instead of letting it burn you up.

Athletics is one of the healthiest and most satisfying outlets. The teen-age boy who has had two and a half hours of basketball or football practice or a couple of hours on the tennis court is less likely to be riding around in the evening looking for girls.

Housework, particularly floor scrubbing, is not only great for the female figure, but it's good for the soul. And it will help take the edge off your sex appetite.

Cooking, baking and sewing will prepare you for homemaking. Energy siphoned off into these constructive channels will leave less energy for preoccupation with erotic fantasies. (They called it being boy-crazy when I was a teen-ager.)

Of course you would not be normal if you were able to keep your mind off the boys.

completely. And no normal boy is able to keep his mind off girls completely either. The old fashioned idea that boys and girls who were kept busy would forget all about each other is a lot of eye-wash.

Educational Advance
Sex education has not advanced generally in the last 25 years. But progress has been made in the honest discussion of it. I can document it in my reader mail.

Medical authorities tell us it is a normal part of growing up.

Sex stimulation is more common and more frequent among boys than girls because boys are more readily excited by visual images. A boy can become aroused by looking at a picture of a half-clad girl or by seeing a girl in a tight sweater.

He can become excited by touching her bare leg or her bare back. A boy's desires may be triggered by a sexy story or by just daydreaming about a girl and imagining what it might be like to make love to her.

Girls Differ
Females are not so affected by such stimuli nor are their sex fantasies so vivid. Girls are inclined to be more romantic than physical — they relate sex to romance and love rather than to biological urges.

Obviously there are exceptions among both boys and girls. General condition of physical health, the rate of metabolism and the way the glands function play a vital part in regulating sex appetite.

Teenagers should know, understand and accept these facts of life.

But, as we grow into manhood and womanhood and as our concepts of love become more meaningful, we should understand that for genuine sexual satisfaction, we must feel a deeper need to give than to receive.

Real fulfillment is found only in a love relationship which involves another person. It cannot be found in solitary physical pleasure. This is why God made man and woman.

Arthritis Unit Says $60,000 Spent In Area On Quack Cures

PHILADELPHIA — The 2,500 arthritics in Monroe County spend $60,000 every year on quack cures, the Eastern Pennsylvania Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation in Philadelphia, charged yesterday.

The chapter estimates more than 5 million arthritics suffer every year on products whose benefits are misrepresented.

Pain and fear make the arthritic especially vulnerable to phony promises, and swindle victims risk the possibility of delaying honest medical treatment, according to the chapter.

While cautioning sufferers against the pitfalls of medical quackery, the chapter states that at present, doctors know neither the cause nor cure for arthritis. Treatment is often long and arduous.

The quack practitioner is often aided by the fact that the most common type arthritis — rheumatoid — comes and goes. A person may suffer for weeks, months and years, then suddenly find the pain abating, according to the chapter. If the relief happens to come when he is doctoring with a quack or a phony product — he will swear by the remedy — even though the product is actually worthless, the foundation said.

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation says the "cured patient" may even allow the promoter to use his name as a testimonial to the product's "effectiveness."

THERE IT GOES WINNING MORE HEARTS AGAIN!

Every time a Cadillac goes by, it seems someone falls in love with it.

Last year, for instance, more people moved up to Cadillac than ever before in history. And the way 1964 is starting off, Cadillac is going to attract more owners than even its beguiling predecessor. Why? We think the answer is easy.

Each year Cadillac simply lengthens its margin of product leadership—by introducing advancements and improvements that are entirely its own.

In 1964, for example, we've combined the heater and air conditioner in a single unit—with a single control. You set the thermostat at your favorite temperature just like you do at home—and the interior of the car holds it winter and summer. We call it Comfort Control.

*An extra-cost option.

Then there's Cadillac's new Twilight Sentinel*. When it's time to turn on the lights, they switch on automatically . . . and then turn off when sufficient daylight returns. And in the evening, the headlights can be set to light your path from car to doorway and then turn off automatically after you have entered the house.

There's a lot more about the 1964 Cadillac just as new and just as exciting. Take performance, for example.

There's the exciting new 340 h.p. engine—the most powerful in Cadillac history—combined with the smoothness of an improved Hydra-Matic or the completely new Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission.

Give in to your heart and get behind the wheel. Let your authorized Cadillac dealer introduce you to America's most desired motor car.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Day-old notes are often more intriguing than the fresh variety, especially when they follow a busy day like Wednesday. There is a certain mystery about seeing "Fin and Ind," for instance, in my Women's Club notes.

Finally figured out it meant Finland and India and the Women's Club own experiment in international living when they entertained Arla Joro and Ruma on successive summers. Now there's an experiment I wish they'd repeat: we got some mighty good copy on the long days of summer, remember?

"M. Hug fruits" might also be baffling if I hadn't remembered that it referred to the decorating Margaret Hughes had done with fruits and greens on the mantel.

"12 corn" obviously refers to the 12 ears of corn which Dottie Grant had arranged in the Historical Society's maple bowl for the centerpiece at the Historical Society dinner, since 12 was the traditional number for Indian grudging.

"Pohopoco pot — Pimple" refers to the discovery long years ago of Indian pottery by one M. P. Brong on a hunting trip to Pimple Mountain and dug out from the charcoal of the fire over which it had once been used. The pot itself is in the state museum but Nathan Meyer had the article, together with a similar pot included in his display of local Indian relics.

Things get much easier when it comes to remembering about people. Numa Snyder, for instance, who was in charge of the music at the Historical Society dinner, pointed out that he had asumed the Indian brave's prerogative and made his wife do the work — although the way she sings, it doesn't sound like work.

A lot of work must have gone into Alfred Sumner's brochure on Jacob Stroud, but it certainly should simplify the task of the library custodians to have all the pertinent information about the founder of Stroudsburg in one concise pamphlet.

It was one concise party going on in the Regina Suite but with a double purpose, a bon voyage party for Jean Edwards and her sister, Bobbie Nabors, who are sailing

Frailey-Williams Engagement

Stroudsburg — Kenneth L. Williams of 461 Youngwood Drive, Stroudsburg, announces the engagement of his daughter, Anne Marie, to Paul A. Frailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Frailey of Scotrun.

Miss Williams, a graduate of Pocono High School, is a senior at East Stroudsburg State College, majoring in elementary education.

Mr. Frailey, who was also graduated from Pocono Twp. High School, recently completed two years in the U. S. Army, stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., and Fort Lewis, Wash., as a military policeman.

He is presently employed with his father as an excavating contractor.

No date has been set for the wedding.

on The Constitution for a tour of Europe.

They'll be gone almost as long as Bob and Betty Schell who have left for 12 weeks in Chicago leaving Mama Shulz to do the dog and bird-sitting. All these migrations coupled with the people planning their annual Florida vacations give you a sort of deserted feeling.

But if you're tempted to feel sorry for yourself, think of Edna Masters who somehow got caught in the snow blower which chewed up her leg considerably and is in the hospital for what must be a very painful recovery.

Socialite Will Show Paintings

By Milton Marmor

London (AP) — "One has to do something constructive," says Mrs. Dorothea Blum, wealthy American socialite, as she bustles about preparing for her first one-man painting exhibition.

"It's not enough just to talk about the bomb," she adds in her charming Hungarian accent. "We have to do something."

The widow of Francis Blum, textile dyeing magnate of Lodi, N.J., has been painting for years. Finally she decided to have an exhibition. Her friends told her she should, she says.

"It's difficult being wealthy to do something worthwhile," she explains in her suite in Claridges, the hotel for royalty and heads of state. "To go to elegant parties took time away from my painting at my Easthampton, Long Island, estate. But I had to paint."

The Hungarian born artist, who also has a New York home on Park Avenue, will show her work opening January 28. She also plans to exhibit in Paris and New York.

She worked as a Red Cross official with the American Military Mission at the end of the World War II and her work now includes war pictures.

"I paint very fierce war pictures," she remarks with a smile.

The death of President Kennedy also prompted her to have an overseas showing of her work.

"I feel it's very important to keep the link between the United States and Britain," she says.

Mrs. Blum's paintings are stark and powerful. She has been told she has a fine feeling for colors. She calls herself an expressionist painter. She doesn't like the Impressionist school.

Her favorite subject for painting is a helmet.

"I paint helmets because they express to me the isolation of the individuals," she explains. "I have a thing about this. I started on them a year ago. They show man's fight for survival, competition and discipline."

She picked up a painting of a medieval helmet.

"This is strong stuff," she comments. "It's my heavy life experience."

Spain Trip In Slides For DAR

Included will be Alhambra and Granada, the Mosque of Cordova and many of the cities and small towns of the area.

Mrs. Numa Snyder will present special songs with Mrs. Fred Quig as her accompanist. It will be a dessert meeting starting at 1:30 p.m.

New 'At Home' Career Can Depend On Your Creativity

By Roberta Fleming Roesch

As we've said in this column many times, you can run head on into problems if you're not trained for a job.

But at the same time, you can hit snags, too, if you're perfectly trained for a job but don't want to leave your home to work while your children are very young.

One letter in our mail today pinpoints this very problem.

Frustrated Status

"I scribble and saved to get through college," she writes, this ex-copier-housewife — frustrated housewife with a family of young children.

"There ought to be some way," she went on, "where women with professional training can use their skills in home jobs while their children are growing up."

We couldn't agree more heartily! And we'd like to see lots of ways.

Do-It-Yourself

But the fact remains the chance isn't there unless you create it yourself and find a way to build, on your own, a job where your training and experience add up to work at home.

Happily, though, some ways are found by enterprising women.

One woman, for example, who'd been trained in fashion merchandising, found herself, as a mother, in the suburbs without a job.

"As the housebound mother of two little boys, I didn't think there was any way to work in fashion," she said. "Yet, at the same time, I didn't want to leave home to work. I grew more and more restless to use my training and experience."

Dawn Of An Idea

"One day, in desperation, I got the idea of selling myself as a free lance professional fashion show coordinator in which I could work as my own boss and use my dining room table and home phone as my base of operation."

"To get my start I contacted all kinds of organizations, and gradually I began selling my service to those who wanted to put on professional fashion shows."

"Then after I became known

DANCING DAUGHTER—Rosalini Ricci, 18, shows her famous violinist father, Ruggiero Ricci (right) how toes are pointed in ballet.

This Parent Learned From His Own Parents' Mistake

By Vivian Brown

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Do we learn how to be parents by observing the mistakes of our parents?

Violinist Ruggiero Ricci, who plays to standing room only over the world, thinks we do. At least he did.

As a 10-year-old musical genius he was involved in a spectacular court case with his own parents who were thought to be exploiting him.

Now the parent of budding talent, the internationally famous artist who played in public at 3 years of age, believes children should not be pushed into music, and they should have the opportunity of accepting or rejecting a musical instrument.

"I was made to play the violin. My father forced his seven children to play instruments whether they wanted to or not. He bought the instruments — trumpet, piano, drums, cello, trombone, violin, and he even attempted to teach us. He was right in my case and that of my brother, a cellist. But that was luck. I plan to let my children decide what they will do, and how long they will do it," he says.

Expert Judgment

Daughter Riana, 20, plays the violin and loves it. She studies at the Eastman School of Music. But daughter Rosalini, 18, lovely blue-eyed, red-haired and lithe, is a ballet dancer.

"She had always wanted to dance, but I didn't have the vaguest idea what dance talent is, so I decided to take her to a teacher who could determine her talent from a professional standpoint. If it had been music, I would have done the same thing," says Ricci.

His own father, a mill worker, just made up his own mind who could do what. And he made them practice excessively.

Rosalini has had scholarships four years, and studied last summer with the American Ballet Theater. She was graduated from Professional Children's School in summer and with a 95 average, winning the math award.

Touring Fun

Unlike her father who dislikes tours, Rosalini finds them tiring but fun.

"I'd like to be traveling alone, and daddy would like to travel on the bus as we do," explains Rosalini.

"I really get very lonely when I travel on tour," says Ricci.

"But I've never known any other way of life. I've been doing this since I was 10 years old, should be used to it."

The family lives in Geneva, Switzerland, much of the year because Ricci tours the continent for 5 to 6 months each year.

Ruggiero has never seen Rosalini in a production because their paths haven't crossed, although he has seen her dance at school. Looking at her proudly, he says:

"I never would have guessed I'd have a dancer as a daughter."

The table upon which I am typing is facing a large canvas by Rentiel (Betty Leitner) called Tropical. The colors are exciting and brilliant . . . a lively swirl against a dark background. If the truth were known, those colors are a picture of my thoughts at this moment—whirling, bright, and saucy; far too fast in their movement to be captured by a typewriter.

For the past several days, I've been working so closely with the Art Show, I cannot tell you what has been happening elsewhere in the store. I dare say things have been going on beyond the confines of our Keystone Room . . . but I couldn't prove it. Right now all I know is that 130 artists have entered 215 paintings in our Show . . . this is approximately twenty more artists than last year and six more entries. In 1963, the artists almost to a man entered the full quota of paintings; this year there are more single entries which, in a way, may be good, as the overall size of the paintings seems to be larger.

I am not sure who the oldest exhibiting artist is. Roy Parker, of Middletown, N.Y., the very excellent primitive, is an octogenarian, I believe. His wife is also exhibiting this year, making them one of two married couples, the other being our guest exhibitor, Allan Eldredge and his wife, Lee. There is also a father-daughter combination—John Jamming of Blairstown, and Harriet Harrison of Newton.

Pocono Mt. High School has a number of representatives as does Stroud Union, and there are numerous young artists who have entered on their own. Jodey (Joanne) Miller is nine years old . . . Alice Shukaitis is 10 . . . Paul George is 11 . . . and several others are 16 or so. What is more, the show includes everything: pastels . . . crayon drawings . . . water colors . . . charcoal drawings . . . pencil sketches . . . and, of course, oil. Every possible technique from trompe de l'oeil to the extremely avant garde is on view.

Looking them all over, I am glad of several things—first, that my budget is too limited to afford a painting right now, because I'd have a wretched time deciding which to buy from the dozen or so I most admire; and second, that I don't know enough about art to be a judge. A judge is nothing if not a gentleman with a king size headache!

Cy Barrett Says

Longevity Asset

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

DEAR CY: When I was hired, they told me I was going to have responsibility for writing the classified advertising which is the mainstay of this rug cleaning business. It took the woman who owns it 24 hours after I arrived to start looking over my shoulder and rewriting my work. After I write a nice ad, she changes it around, breaks it up into paragraphs and adds "22 years in business" at the bottom. Reader don't care how long we have been cleaning dirty rugs. They want to know what we are offering today. I almost quit over this ad and hope you back me.

EBER G. SIMMS

DEAR EBER: Some one will tell you the length of time a firm has been in business is completely unimportant to buyers. I've heard this ancient refrain for too many years: A good long stretch in business rates among the best confidence builders.

The public is jostled and pushed from so many angles by nefarious promoters, it wants to know about those who accept dollars. The sound of 22 years in your business may cause you to gasp for aspirin. But... you aren't the customer... and you aren't the boss. P.S. Give the lady credit for paraphrasing your classified ad. Why suffocate good ideas?

CY

DEAR CY: This is a really serious job problem. It has become necessary for me to get work in order to support my 15-month-old daughter and myself. I was a laboratory technician before my marriage, but, to be truth ful, was not good at it. Do not have confidence in this field. Secretarial work is out because, even in school, was terrible at typing. I attended computer classes after high school but never got the hang. Later, have been reading about computer programming schools and understand the work pays a decent salary. Should I take a course in computer programming?

CHERIE PLANK

DEAR CHERIE:

Your harum - scarum confusion is brought on by lack of confidence.

Get a job as laboratory technician, a field in which you already have experience and training. Tackle your work with enthusiasm, concentrating constantly on improvement. Before you know it, confidence will have squeezed its bulk through the window of your life. Do as Norman Vincent Peale suggests in his book, "The Power of Positive Thinking." He says, "Formulate and stamp indelibly on your mind a mental picture of yourself as succeeding. Hold this picture tenaciously. Never permit it to fade."

CY

DEAR CY: You really keep your readers informed! I've lived through the advent of diaper services but never realized baby formula services would arrive during my lifetime. How much money would it take to start a fairly large business of this type? With five little boys, we can appreciate the opportunities.

JACKSON

DEAR JACKSON:

Average annual birth rate in America is 24 to 25 babies per 1,000 people. According to the American Association of Infant Formula Services, a sizeable operation should serve an area with a radius of 30 miles producing 60,000 babies per year. An investment of about $100,000 would be required to develop hospital and home business. Will let you know when baby-bathing services catch hold.

Post-High Tech School Sought For Northampton

PEN ARGYL — State Sen. Gus Veron of Pen Argyl yesterday said Northampton County was in need of a post-high school technical facility equipped to train adults who have lost their jobs to automation or industrial shut-down.

He said he feels that the largest group which would receive reduced benefits under Seranton administration's proposed unemployment compensation law is comprised of pensioners and those receiving separation and vacation pay.

Verona said that the AFL-CIO estimates there are 80,000 to 120,000 in this group in Pennsylvania.

"Under the present law," Verona said, "a worker who is discharged receives a pension of $40 a week for 30 weeks. Under the administration plan, he would receive no payments because all pensions financed by the employer as well as vacation and separation pay are to be subtracted from unemployment claim payments."

"Half of all social security benefits and any private plans to which both employer and employee have contributed will also be deducted," he added. Most seasonal workers would

Rights Worker Ask RFK Aid

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A Negro civil rights worker Tuesday asked U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy to probe the arrests of two white co-workers—one of whom is a white attorney.

David Dennis, assistant program director for the Council of Federated Organizations, said CoFo asked for an investigation into the arrests of Peter Stoner and Oscar Chase in Hattiesburg, Miss. Stoner and Chase are from New York City.

Dennis' telegram to the attorney general said the arrests were "a continuation of official efforts to prevent Negroes from registering to vote in the Hattiesburg area."

Asst. Police Chief Paul Andrews in Hattiesburg said Chase was arrested Tuesday after standing in a bus station area marked "Colored Only." He was held on a charge of breach of peace.

Six Hoop Games, One Mat Meet

School Sports In Full Blast

STROUDSBURG — Scholastic sports activity resumes full blast tonight with the opening of the Pocono League, a Lehigh Valley League battle and three Lehigh — Northampton League clashes highlighting a six-game hoop slate in the Pocono-Slate Belt area.

On the wrestling front, Stroud Union hopes to snap a two-match losing streak while seeking its fourth win against invading Washington, N.J.

Lehigh Valley League — Pocono Catholic Missions, winners of one game against eight losses, is host to Coach Bill Frear's Pleasant Valley Bears in the opener of the new-ly-organized Pocono League. The Bears will carry an 0-4 record into the Cresco gym in search of their first win of the campaign.

Lehigh Valley League — Coach Willmont Smith takes his Stroud Union Mountaineers to Emmaus in the Lehigh Valley League battle. The Maroon and White has won four of seven games overall and is all even in league play with a 1-1 mark. Emmaus has won two of three league clashes.

Lehigh Valley League — The Slaters of Bangor, also on the road, will take a 6-2 record to Parkland in an L-N struggle. Coach Bill Ponsky's squad has won three of four loop battles to date and hopes to remain in strong contention in the northern division with another victory while attempting to catch undefeated and surprising Nazareth.

Lehigh Valley League — Coach Dale Baker's East Stroudsburg Cavaliers (3-6 overall) hope to grab their first L-N triumph when they travel to Fountain Hill. Pen Argyl (4-6) hopes to even its L-N record at 3-3 at Northwestern.

Lehigh Valley League — Exhibition Game In the only exhibition game tonight, the Cardinals of Pocono Mountain travel to Roseto for a meeting with Pius X. The Royals are searching for their first victory after two opening losses, while the Cards seek their second win in 11 contests.

Lehigh Valley League — The Stroud Union grapplers, meanwhile, hope to get back on the winning side of the ledger. Following three straight triumphs over Staflington, Whitehall and East Stroudsburg, the Mounties of Coach Dick Mering suffered back-to-back reversals against Emmaus and Northampton in their last two outings.

Lehigh Valley League — He came into the meeting with a long history of complex wrangles with Kansas City authorities concerning the lease at Municipal Stadium.

A 'Fin' To Finley Is Written By A.L.

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League rejected Charles O. Finley's plea to move his Athletics from Kansas City to Louisville Thursday and ordered him to sign a lease in the Missouri city by Feb. 1 or face expulsion from the league.

Finley immediately countered with a threat to take the league to court.

"My plans will be to go to court to find out if the American League legally has the power they think they have to restrain me from moving my ball club to Louisville or any other place," the fiery owner said.

Brief Huddle — He made the statement after a brief huddle with his attorneys following the nine-hour session of the league and its board of directors.

The colorful, white-haired owner stalked out of the league meetings just a couple of moments before the league's sharp action was announced, muttered "No comment," then went into a session with his attorneys.

Finley had signed a contract to move to Louisville without receiving permission from the league, as is required.

Complex Wrangles — He came into the meeting with a long history of complex wrangles with Kansas City authorities concerning the lease at Municipal Stadium.

His request to move to Louisville was turned down by a 9-1 vote of the league owners, in executive session. By the same vote the league approved a resolution adopted by the board of directors ordering him to sign a lease in Kansas City by Feb. 1.

Failing that, the resolution said, "A special meeting of the members of the league shall be called by the president as soon as convenient thereafter to consider and act upon the termination of the membership and/or expulsion from membership of Charles O. Finley and Co., Inc."

Lehigh Valley League — The league has never taken such action against a club owner. The machinery for the move calls for a written bill of particulars to be presented to the owner and a hearing then held.

The league, if it then felt the move was necessary, could expel the owner from the league and pick up his franchise.

"I have no alternative now but to work out a lease with Kansas City," Finley said during an informal news conference. "I'm certainly not going to throw the franchise out the window. I have every right as an American citizen to question the decision they made today."

Finley conducted the conference while perched on the top of a bureau in the suite of Kentucky Gov. Edward T. Breathitt.

Seeks Injunction — He said if possible he will get an injunction enabling him to go to Louisville.

"If it is legally possible to get an injunction whereby I can go to Louisville, you can rest assured I will do that," he said. "If I can't, the only thing I can do is to go back to Kansas City until the courts decide if I can move a franchise I think I own."

Finley emphasized that while he plans to take the league to court "just as soon as I can get my attorneys to put the suit on file," he had no fear of losing the franchise. He said he would abide by the decision of the court.

As to the league: "I don't think they are bluffing and they know I'm not bluffing. I'll fight it all the way," he said.

Wall 10 Strokes Back

Canadian Grabs Crosby Golf Lead

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Canadian Al Balding fired a six-under-par 66 to grab the first-round lead in the 560,000 Bing Crosby Golf Tournament by a stroke Thursday as only one United States golfer finished in the top four.

The lanky Canadian from Toronto carded a 32-34 over the demanding Cypress Point course. He included four birdie putts of between 12 and 22 feet on the first nine and an eagle on the par 5 10th when his approach stopped a foot from the cup.

One Bogey — His only bogey came on the tricky over-the-ocean 16th hole. At that same spot, Jack Nicklaus knocked his way to a triple bogey 6 en route to a 75 in his first 1964 outing.

English Ryder Cupper Geoffrey Hunt and 27-year-old Bob Nichols of Corona, Calif., deadlocked at 67—Hunt playing Monterey Peninsula Country Club and Nichols in the same foursome with Nicklaus at Cypress Point.

Left-handed Bob Charles, the British Open champion from New Zealand, fired his way into fourth position with a 68 while a mob of 10 pros finished at 69 for their first round in this 72-hole event.

Wall Trails — Arnold Palmer shot an even par 72, but the winners of the Los Angeles and San Diego tournaments—Paul Harney and Art Wall—each could get only 76.

In the pro-amateur competition, the lead with a best ball of 69 was shared by a foursome of Don Fitchick and five Charlie Seaver.

Shoot 69s — Bunched at 69 with Monti were George Archer, Jack Burke, Bob Harris, Roger Ginsberg, Skee Riegel, Australian Bruce Devlin, Bo Winger, Don Bies and Al Bessellink.

With the field of 174 pros and as many amateurs divided into three courses, the toughest was Pebble Beach where the 69 by Seattle's Bies proved the best. Mason Rudolph and Rex Baxter each had 70 there.

Balding, who hasn't won a PGA tournament since 1957, collected $1,000 for his low score Thursday in the "daily double" portion which gives that amount to each day's low scorer and $500 to the second man.

Defending champion Billy Casper, twice a Crosby champ and holder of the tournament record at 277, remained in contention with a 36-35 — 71. Bob Rosburg, who won here in 1961, carded a 35-36 for his 71.

A total of 40 bettered par and 21 equaled it.

Lanternman's Wins YMCA Hoop Battle — Chet's & Lanternman's last night made their inaugural appearance in the YMCA Industrial Basketball League a successful one with an $1-63 win over J. C. Reinhardt which went down to its third straight defeat.

Bob Seals splashed the nets for 31 points to grab scoring honors in the game and set the pace for the winners. Lem Isom and Gene Ambrusch turned in strong supporting roles with 16 points apiece. Harry Miller added 10.

Bob Wilson was high for Reinhardt's with 21 tallies. Carl Beseker notched 17 and Pete Gelard added 16.

HUGS AND LUGS LEATHER—Harold Myers demonstrates typical pose in uniform of University of Wichita football team. The former East Stroudsburg High grid phenom has been recognized by Wichita coach as possibly "one of the greatest" in school's history.

Myers Is Named Among 'Greatest'

WICHITA, Kan. — Harold Myers, former East Stroudsburg Area High star, has been hailed by University of Wichita Coach Marcelino H. Huerta as potentially "one of the greatest football players" at the school.

Myers, who recently completed his sophomore season for the Fighting Shockers, carried the ball 55 times in his first varsity campaign, picking up a total of 262 yards for an average of 4.7 per carry.

In a letter addressed to Glenn Miller, president of the Varsity "E" Club, Huerta said: "In regards to Harold, we are very, very proud of him. He is one of our top halfbacks as a sophomore which is very rare... with a little luck he should be one of the great football players at Wichita."

The head coach further noted that the school employs two football units on the team — one known as the "Fighters," and the other the "Shockers."

Said Huerta: "Harold was on the Fighter unit and was one of the best all-around backs this past year."

The coach also credited the Varsity "E" Club with bringing Myers to the attention of the Wichita staff when the club sponsored him on a trip to the Cotton Bowl. As a consequence of this, Harold is on full scholarship at the university.

"If you know any more boys like Harold," said Huerta, "we will take them all."

In addition to his fine rushing average, Harold also:

Scored two touchdowns, caught seven passes for a total of 90 yards, intercepted three and returned for a total of 61, and recovered one fumble.

"The Shockers," by the way, won the MVC championship last season and Huerta exclaims:

"I might add that one of the reasons that we won the MVC championship is because Harold was a member of the football team."

Postpone Fight — MANILA (AP) — Promoter Lope Sarreal said Thursday that the title fight here between Carlos Ortiz of Puerto Rico and Flash Elorde of the Philippines has been postponed two weeks to Feb. 15.

Stolen Ball Gives E-burg 41-40 Win

HELLERTOWN—Bill Reese's driving layout after stealing the ball with a minute left to play provided visiting East Stroudsburg with a thrilling 41-40 victory over Hellertown last night to give the Cavaliers their first Lehigh-Northampton League win of the season.

With neither team hitting with any consistency, the slow, deliberate battle was a nip-and-tuck affair right down to the wire.

There wasn't an East Stroudsburg player who reached double figures. Russ Scott and Reese came the closest, each with nine, to share top scoring laurels for the winners.

Deep Freeze Hits Southern Cagers

DAVIDSON, N.C. (AP) — The temperature dropped to 11 degrees at Richmond, Va., Wednesday night, but it was even colder inside the Richmond Arena.

Unbeaten Davidson, the nation's fifth-ranked college basketball team, and Southern Conference rival Richmond combined to stage a freeze.

Davidson, leading the country with a 56 per cent shooting accuracy figure, shot from the floor but once in the last 13 minutes as Coach Lefty Driesell countered Richmond's zone defense with a stall. Davidson emerged with its 14th straight victory 52-49. Each team scored four points in the last 13 minutes.

Olympic Thaw Ends

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — Training at the 1964 Winter Olympics site began Thursday as the thaw which had threatened further damage to the Olympic courses came to an end.

Curacy figure, shot from the floor but once in the last 13 minutes as Coach Lefty Driesell countered Richmond's zone defense with a stall. Davidson emerged with its 14th straight victory 52-49. Each team scored four points in the last 13 minutes.

Had Handcuffs — "Gee, I hadn't thought of that," Driesell grinned Thursday when it was pointed out that the nation's hottest shooting team played with handcuffs on for most of the last half. "Wonder if they'll fire the coach for doing that?" he chuckled.

Why the prolonged deep freeze? "Well," explained Driesell, "it wasn't any preconceived plan. Richmond had played well and their zone had helped them to lead at the half by three points."

Tired Team — "My boys were playing their third game in five nights. Barry Tenge, who was fighting the flu for two days, was very tired out there and I didn't think my boys were playing especially well."

"So, in the last half when we got a three-point lead I thought this would be a good time to slow it down. I never thought they would stay in that zone and not come out after us. We just passed the ball around and they stayed back."

"I've never done anything like this before as a coach. Actually, I was scared on the bench wondering how it would turn out. But we won, so I guess it turned out pretty good."

"Play To Win" — "I play to win. Maybe we could have beaten them by 20 points, but Richmond shot very well in the first half and I didn't know that they wouldn't repeat in the second half."

With Davidson controlling the ball and Richmond electing to watch, not a shot was taken for the first eight of those closing 13 minutes. All told, Davidson shot six free throws in that time, hitting four, while Richmond made good one of two field goals and two free-throw attempts.

Chuvalo Rated Slight Favorite — CLEVELAND (AP) — George Chuvalo, Canadian heavyweight champion, is a slight favorite to beat Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz., in their 10-rounder at the Cleveland Arena Friday night.

The 26-year-old Chuvalo is rated ninth among the world heavyweight contenders, three rungs below Folley who is five years his senior.

The bout, scheduled for 10 p.m. EST, will be televised nationally by ABC with the Cleveland area blacked out.

Chuvalo, never knocked out and winner of 19 scraps by knockouts, won six in a row during 1963 after a year-long lay-off in 1962. His over-all record is 25-7-2.

Folley has a 65-6-3 record and was knocked out by Sonny Liston in the third round of a fight in 1960 before Liston took the heavyweight crown.

Scranton Presents Award

N'fld Marksman Gets Root Medal

HARRISBURG — Gov. William W. Scranton yesterday presented the Elihu Root Civilian Marksmanship Medal to George Geiges of Newfoundland for his outstanding pistol marksmanship in the 1963 National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio.

In making the presentation, Gov. Scranton congratulated

Geiges and expressed the pride Pennsylvania feels toward him for bringing this national honor to Pennsylvania.

Geiges has been named as a member of the National Civilian Pistol Team. His score in the matches was 283-6.

The National Civilian Rifle and Pistol Teams are honorary teams composed of the best civillian and pistol marksmen in the nation. The selection of these teams and the award of the Elihu Root Medal to each member are actions initiated by the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice.

The Board is a body of prominent individuals, military and civilian, appointed by the Secretary of the Army to assist him in the mission of training civilian marksmen, a responsibility assigned him by law.

Military dignitaries who attended the ceremony were: Maj. Gen. Thomas R. White, Jr., Pennsylvania Adjutant General; Col. Richard Snyder, Deputy Adj. Gen., Pennsylvania Army National Guard; and Lt. Col. Anthony R. Flores, Deputy Adj. Gen. for Veterans Affairs.

Also attending the ceremony were Mrs. Geiges and the two Geiges children, George Michael, age 7, Keith Allen, aged 5, and other members of the respective families of Mr. and Mrs. Geiges.

National Printing Week Observed In Monroe County

STROUDSBURG — Printing firms in Monroe County and adjoining areas are observing National Printing Week this week.

The newest printing firm in the area is Phoenix Press in Canadensis. Joseph M. Scott, owner, said, "January 1, 1964, we started our second year in business."

Phoenix Press prints offset in black and white as well as color. It publishes a monthly newspaper for a business firm which circulates it through its many plants and sales offices.

John Kistler is the owner and operator of Kistler Printing Co. in East Stroudsburg. He started his business in the basement of his home, building on Prospect St., East Stroudsburg in 1946 and later moved the business to its present location at 109 Prospect St., East Stroudsburg.

All Types
The firm prints all types of job printing for industries and resorts in the area. It prints several small publications.

One of the larger firms in the area is Hughes Printing Co. in East Stroudsburg. It was founded in 1915 by George C. Hughes and Sons.

The firm publishes many business and trade publications. The volume of mail leaving the plant and going through the East Stroudsburg post office makes the post office volume wise — one of the largest in the State of Pennsylvania.

One of the older companies in the area is Four Maples Press in Minisink. It is owned by C. K. and Marietta Ellenberger.

The company was started some 20 years ago in the kitchen of the Ellenbergers' home in Minisink Hills.

Printed here, in addition to job and brochures, are several small publications.

Pocono Press in Cresco is another one of the older firms in the area. The business was started 40 years ago and was sold two years ago to the present owners, Jay Josephes, president; Don E. Neith, vice president and plant manager, and Alfred DeAngelis, secretary of the corporation.

Pocono Press puts out items in color and black and white which are labeled commercial jobs. The firm also prints bro-

Gum Named Master Farmer

HARRISBURG — Edwin J. Gum, who has operated a dairy farm at Pen Argyl RD 1 since 1940, was designated a Pennsylvania master farmer in ceremonies held yesterday in conjunction with the 48th annual State Farm Show in Harrisburg.

Gum was one of six state farmers given the honor by the Pennsylvania State University's Agricultural Extension Service and the Pennsylvania Farmer Magazine in the Penn-Harris Hotel.

The Pen Argyl farmer, whose herd numbers more than 60, was unable to attend ceremonies because of bad driving conditions.

Samuel D. Lewis, Northampton County farm agent, described Gum as "one of the outstanding grasslands farmers of Pennsylvania in the last 10 years."

Monday's heavy snow cut down the Farm Show attendance for the first two days, but show officials braced themselves today for the first heavy influx of visitors. More than 600,000 people attended last year's show.
